the street.

The store is operated by Councilman James Campbell and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Campbell, 74. The latter was carried from her blazing dwelling next door, by a neighbor, who also tried unsuccessfully to re-enter and save her jewelry and money.

Organization Leaders
Meet and Discuss Plans

In response to the call for a worker's conference at the Eddington Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening,
nine organization leaders met and dis-

Charles Abbott, Miss Eleanor Davis,
Mrs. Arthur G. Wilkinson, and Mr.
Arthur G. Wilkinson.

ones. The latter displayed a picture of the human body, showing what effect alcohol has on the same. He also gave demonstrations, using alcohol and water, showing how water preserves, and how alcohol either scatters or hardens the various matters it comes in contact with.

EL PUENTE DEL ARZOBISPO,
Oct. 1.—(INS)—This is the farthest town the Legion has taken to the south of Oropesa on the way to Toledo except the hamlet of Alcala de Tajo which I saw captured by part of a tabor of Moroccans this afternoon. We watched it from the church tower.

But the high point of our visit to the Bridge of the Archbishop, was not strictly of military but of mathematical interest. To show what I mean I shall relate an anecdote. Once in 1930
I was doing a long trip through Russia and had come to Tiflis in Georgia and had gone down to the Bazaar and bought a bag of figs, the great purple figs of the Caucasus, big as oranges.

They had no paper in Russia in those days to waste on bags so everybody pasted up their own bags out of old periodicals. I had dumped my figs on the bed of my hotel room and was just about to throw the bag away when suddenly I noticed something odd,
not beautiful but odd indeed,—
my own picture on the bag.

The bag had been made from a Soviet weekly called "Oganok" from an issue about two years old, and the picture illustrated an article about some white Russian document forgers whom I had arrested in Berlin two years before for counterfeiting documents to prove Senator Borah was in the pay of Moscow.

Imagine the mathematical chances against my finding that particular bag
at that particular moment in Tiflis, Georgia, just one step ahead of the next customer. The law of probability could not even be applied and of course if it could the chances against this happening would be an astronomical figure.

But the figure would be no higher than the one when Arthur Menken met a Legionnaire in the Bridge of the Archbishop. The Legion had just taken the town and the square was jammed with soldiers. Menken was walking about with his hand movie camera
when suddenly a Legionnaire standing on the top of a truck load of miscellaneous junk, evidently "requisition-ed", called out "Say, come here, look here, I've got one of those."

EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS AGAINST THE PENNSYLVANIA "BOOTLEG" COAL MINERS
REKINDLES ANEW A PRESSING PROBLEM

By Frederick N. Polanzin
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1936, by I. N. S.)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The extradition proceedings brought by New York authorities against the so-called bootleg coal miners today rekindled anew the pressing problem of what to do about this state's 23,000
"unhired" anthracite miners—victims of a changing social and economic order.

The enigma, long an issue crying
for solution yet found too delicate thus far for practical handling, was further complicated today by the announcement of John C. McDermott, assistant district attorney of New York county that:

1.—New Jersey and Maryland intend to band with New York in keeping Pennsylvania's "stolen" coal out of their states.

2.—A convention of district attorneys in the three states, and particularly in New York, will probably be called shortly to formulate policies in dealing with the continued inter-state flow of the coal.

"New York considers it an affront
on the part of Pennsylvania to permit
these conditions to exist," McDermott told International News Service. "If Pennsylvania is going to recognize stealing coal as legal, then it might as well allow stealing automobiles.

LANDON OFFERS REAL SECURITY

(New York American, September 30, 1936)

Governor Landon's views on the problem of social security, outlined in his Milwaukee address, have the needed virtue of practical common sense as well as that of generous impulse.

Mr. Landon has done a great deal more than to affirm his approval of the principle that the spectres of unemployment and of poverty in old age should not confront the American people.

Such a principle is not debatable.
But Mr. Landon believes it is infinitely more cruel to promise the victims of insecurity THINGS IMPOSSIBLE OF FULFILLMENT than it would be to deny them any hope of help.

"To solve the problem," he declared, "we must have more than a warm heart and a generous impulse. We must have the capacity and the determination to translate our feelings into a practical, workable program.
"DAY DREAMS DO NOT PAY PENSIONS."

The Roosevelt Administration, in its haste to reap the maximum political advantage from all possible sources, has embarked hastily and unwisely upon a program of social security that in actual application WITHHOLDS ALL HOPE OF SECURITY FROM THOSE IT PROPOSES TO BENEFIT.

This kind of program is a travesty on security. It multiplies the tragedy of poverty and of despair. False hopes are more destructive than any other form of misfortune. They not only retard progress toward attainable objectives but also LESSEN THE CAPACITY OF THE PEOPLE to strive for desired ends.

Mr. Landon recognizes that the further America goes along the wrong road in its pursuit of the true security objective the more difficult it will be to retrace its steps and to start in the right direction.

His earnest hope for America is that its people may be spared the brutal awakening and cruel disappointment that are the certain penalties of dreaming about a form of security that can never be attained.

THE NEW DEAL SECURITY PHANTOM IS OF THE SUBSTANCE OF DAY DREAMS.

It is incapable of making any citizen secure against poverty.

ADVISES FARMERS TO TREAT WHEAT SEED*County Agent Greenwalt Says Stinking Smut Has Made Its Appearance*MUST NOT SOW IT LATE

Because of the appearance of stinking smut, a disease of seed wheat, County Agent William F. Greenwalt
has announced that Bucks county farmers who plan to sow wheat during the next few weeks should treat
the seed with a copper carbonate dust.

The County agent also pointed out that wheat sown sooner than September 25th is not advisable because of the attacks of the Hessian fly. Nor, according to Mr. Greenwalt, should the wheat be sown too late in the season as it may then become infected with the stinking smut. The county agent, in his recent statement, said that farmers interested in more information may obtain it from his office on request.

Commenting in general about crop conditions in Bucks county Mr. Green-walt said that the rain of last Friday has materially aided many of the farmers, although fewer benefits have resulted to farmers in the northern part of the county.

NEWTOWN TO SEND
DELEGATE TO MEETING*Parent-Teacher Association

Harrisburg*FINE CO-OPERATION

NEWTOWN, Oct. 1.—Approximately 60 persons met in the high school building here on Monday evening when the Newtown Parent-Teacher Association held its first meeting of the year.
At the beginning of the session, Mrs.
Walter Jackson, president of the organization, spoke on the need for full and free co-operation between parents and teachers in order to promote the proper mental and spiritual values in the children. Mrs. Jackson urged every parent to feel responsible for the success of the schools. The speaker also praised the work of the parent-teacher association in working for that end.

Included in the business of the evening came the decision to send the president or some other person as a delegate to the convention of the State Parent Teacher Association at Harrisburg on October 13-15.

A report was also made by William Barbour, principal of the local schools.
He reported an enrollment of 427 pupils, the largest in the history of the school, and an increase of 26 over last year.

Fine Truck Driver
For Reckless Driving

Police here made another arrest for reckless driving in their campaign to keep Bristol free of accidents.

Yesterday Officers Pollard and Nichols took Harold Bergher, Fox
Chase, into custody.

Bergher was given a hearing before Justice of Peace James Guy and charged with reckless driving. He was fined $10 and costs.

It was alleged at the hearing that Bergher cut "in and out" ahead of trucks which had been stopped at Mill street by a traffic light. At the hearing Bergher admitted his guilt
but said that he thought the traffic light was not working.

SESSION AND TRUSTEES
MEET AT EDDINGTON*The First Time During Recent Years That Such a Meeting
Has Been Held*SEPARATELY AS A RULE

EDDINGTON, Oct. 1.—A joint meeting of the Session and the Board of Trustees of the Eddington Presbyterian Church was held in the Manse Monday evening for a general conference period. This is believed to be the first time in recent years that such a meeting of the two groups has been held.

Usually, each group meets separatly to perform its business, and during the session Monday evening no business was transacted. The meeting, called by the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis, was held for the purpose of discussion of vital problems connected with the administration and other phases of Church activity.

A report was heard from the chairman of the Session committee on the anniversary tablet arrangements, Isaac S. H. Jones. It is planned, according to the chairman, to dedicate the bronze tablet on October 26th, the date the Eddington church was constituted by the Presbytery. On that date the church will be 50 years old.

During the early period of the meeting the duties of the Session and the Board of Trustees were outlined and discussed by members of these two groups.

A favorable financial report was also given by the treasurer, Mr. Jones.
Following this there was a general discussion and analysis of church income. No action could be taken, however, but a clearer picture of the sources of income was produced.

Members of the group also spent a period of the meeting discussing the desirability of an "every member"
drive.

Those who attended the joint meeting included: the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis, Arthur G. Wilkinson, J. W. Simons,
A. Brown, Isaac S. H. Jones, Alvin T.
Lippincott, C. Burnley White, and James W. Bowers.

By David J. Walsh
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Being unable to dig the field out from under a miniature lake, Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, took one look at the Polo Grounds this morning and postponed the second game of the World Series between the Giants and Yankees until tomorrow afternoon.

"Wet grounds" was the official reason given, and beyond doubt, it was justified by the fact, what with the downpour in which yesterday's first game was played, followed by an all-night rain, the field was practically a natatorium.

It was so rain-soaked that field attendants immediately began working feverishly to get it in playable condition for tomorrow afternoon, when the second game was to go on, with Hal Schumacher, of the Giants, and Lefty Gomez, of the Yankees, designated as the starting pitchers. The Giants won the opening game in yesterday's cloud-burst, 6 to 1, behind the pitching of their ace, Carl Hubbell.

21 Hurt in Strike Riot

Reading, Oct. 1.—Twenty-one persons were injured, several so seriously that they required hospital attention, and damage amounting to thousands of dollars was done today, when a picket line of 3000 to 4000 persons charged workers entering the Berkshire Knitting Mills in suburban Wyomissing.

The strike riot raged for more than an hour before it was halted with tear gas hurled by police from Wyomissing and West Reading. Twenty-six state troopers from the West Reading barracks hid in restoring order.

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 1.—For the sec-

Commonwealth against Harry Ebener, 22, of Ottsville, charged with involuntary manslaughter growing out of an automobile accident in which a former Doylestown butcher, Samuel Hager, of Ottsville, was fatally injured last April.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller directed the twelfth juror to step aside and then declared a mistrial after the jury failed to agree after deliberating five and one-half hours. The jury returned to the court room at 9 p. m.

Judge Keller allowed Ebener to re-case. The Court intimated that another trial will not be necessary "ad that a formal motion to have the case

nolle-prossed will be filed by District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn in the near future.

The Ebener jury was composed of six men and six women. Another jury

HIS MAJESTY'S MEALS

To live like a king has always connoted a pattern of life in which abstinence had no place. There have been ascetics under the regal purple, and many who tried to order their lives like common men, but in the past the pressure has been all against them.

The heartiness of English life, with its traditional store on good roast beef and stout ale and heavy puddings and after-dinner port has set a standard which the monarch of the realm has been hard put to exceed, the human frame being constituted as it is. But some have managed to attain a special fame for their feats of self-indulgence. England has never had a Nero, and among the Kings of France have been prodigies beyond its best. But of stout trenchermen it has had many.

A king who worries about his waistline is something distinctly new in Britain. Edward VIII will drink nothing until sundown, for luncheon has apples and tea, and merely pecks at his groceries at other meals. His grandfather was an able gentleman at the table, and the palace cooks of his day still delight in recounting for the magazine audience his appreciation for their efforts. He was an Edward who lived like a king, but the times favored it. Today, perhaps, a king who attempted to live like a king would find a definite lack of sympathy with what would once have been an amiable design.

A NEW WONDER BOY

It is not unusual for a youth from the bushes to create a brilliant pitching impression in a dozen games or so at the tail end of a major league season. On his first trip around the circuit, the recruit with a seasoned catcher behind the plate has, in fact, an advantage he will never enjoy again. The batters are not so strange to him as he is to the batter. But this edge is lost as the league's hitters adjust themselves to his style, and very often a September pitching beauty goes into complete eclipse the following summer.

The Athletics are not the most powerful group in baseball, and still a mere boy who fans 17 of them has a great deal on the ball. Even allowing for the unfamiliarity of a last-place lineup with his pitching, Bob Feller's feat for Cleveland—the best in American League strikeout records—is quite probably a sign that a new Olympian has appeared among the game's ordinary mortals.

Waddell was an established baseball quantity when he turned back 16 Browns on strikes in 1908. Feller is a high school stripling, without experience and presumably without the physical equipment that will be his at full maturity, but very evidently he has what it takes to get along on the diamond.

POCKETBOOK FACTS ABOUT YOUR TAXESHidden Tax Load

Indirect or "hidden" taxes collected by the Federal Government from the consumer now form more than twice as great a burden on the average family as at the beginning of the Roosevelt administration.

The amount of indirect taxes paid by the average family to the Federal Government in the fiscal year 1933 was $35.91. In 1932 it had been only $25.35. It increased to $61.92 in 1934, and to $69.98 in 1935. It remained at about the same level in 1936, owing to the invalidation of processing taxes, although the burden of other indirect taxes was increased.

Indirect taxes collected by the Federal Government in 1935 totaled $2,232,402,340, as compared with $1,088,261,635 in 1933 and $780,703,659 in 1932.

Strange CoincidenceTold By Knickerbocker

We went over to the truck and the soldier, diving down and digging about in the junk, pulled out a life-size identical sister of the hand movie camera. He wouldn't say how he got it, but he asked what it was worth. Menken finally bought it for four pounds sterling.

But we knew where he got it, and the chances of our finding it were just about a million to one, John Dored. Paramount cameraman, with whom I had spent five months on the Abyssinian assignment, had done the first part of this war from Barcelona and Madrid. About ten days or two weeks ago he got permission from the Madrid authorities to come to this front, and they told him that Navalmore was in their hands.

So Dored set out in his automobile with two Spanish assistants from Navalmore. His automobile was decorated with the usual signs of the anarchists—"F. A. I." and the anarchist trade union, "C. N. T."

But Navalmore had been in the hands of the Whites for several days and they were so dumfounded when Dored's "anarchist" car blithely motored into their hands, that they failed to shoot.

Normally they would have riddled the car and asked questions afterwards. But the naïve way in which the car entered the enemy territory simply stupefied the White outposts, who poked their rifles in and said "Hans the frontier at Gibraltar because he had worked on the Reds' side."

So Dored was taken prisoner, and this is surely well known abroad by now, but that camera is certainly his, and Menken intends to prove it when he meets him some day. But it may be a long day since the Whites, although finally convinced that Dored was no enemy, insisted on putting him across the frontier at Gibraltar because he had worked on the Reds' side.

Nevertheless it seems to be that finding that camera at that particular moment in that manner was a coincidence that a self-respecting fiction writer would not dare put in a story. Our satisfaction over it helped a lot to relieve the grimness of some of the things we saw and heard later.

COLLEGE MEANS THE TIME FOR CLOTHES PLANNING, BUDGETS

By Rhadenia A. Armstrong
(Home Economics Representative)
Excited freshman, here's to you! Where are you going to college and what are you taking along besides your own vital personality? Clothes? But of course, make them express you. Select your own wardrobe and use your good common sense in doing it.

Sit down and map out a plan before spending so much as a nickel, for everyone wants to buy wisely and sparingly for the first semester. Adopt this slogan "quality in preference to quantity" and stick to it. Later you may add to your wardrobe gradually as you find out what the definite needs are.

Here is a list of a few of the essentials to help with the necessary planning. At least three changes of knitted underwear, that lends itself satisfactorily to the "wash-bowl-no-iron" method most frequently used in all colleges, is advisable.

Three pairs of gay pajamas, a warm bathrobe, and one pair of comfy slippers should be chosen to blend together into interesting color harmonies. They'll put you into the mood for study or frivolous midnight feeds.

Just the thing for campus and street wear are sport shoes with comfortable low heels. It does not pay to save money here for no girl can look her best nor feel like work if her feet hurt. One pair of dress shoes with high heels will do the trick for teas, parties, and the "rushing" season when you want to make a hit. Then, of course, every college girl needs one pair of sandals to match or contrast with the dinner dress she has chosen. These may be inexpensive because they are not worn often.

Six pairs of hose, three pair of the same shade, will save many temper tantrums when a perfectly good stocking is "snagged." It may be necessary when you buy to ask that these be matched for length.

Sweaters and skirts have become the "campus uniform" and so if they are becoming you want to have as many changes as possible. If you can't wear them, try shirtwaist dresses that can be worn any time of day. One afternoon dress for Sundays and informal affairs and a dramatic, long sleeved, long skirted dinner dress of the color that is most flattering to you will see you through social affairs.

A warm winter coat and a tailored suit, preferably a three-piece style, are practically indispensable. If you can squeeze the suit into your budget select one with smart but conservative lines in a tweed of the best quality you can afford.

Bright colors dispense with gloom in rainy weather so have a cheerful raincoat, umbrella and galoshes. The new transparent oiled silks are grand. Even when your head is in the clouds your feet are on the ground. Keep them dry.

Jambalaya LaFitte

Four strips of bacon, one-half pound raw, smoked ham; one-half cup peeled and chopped ripe tomatoes, one pound raw shrimp, one-half pound breakfast sausage, two large onions, chopped; one clove garlic, mashed; one small red pepper, one dozen oysters, one tablespoon flour, two cups meat stock, one cup raw rice, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one-half teaspoon chopped thyme, salt and black pepper to taste.

Fry out the bacon and remove. In to the bacon grease lightly brown the onions. Remove to a large heavy pot. Add the flour and brown lightly. Cut the ham into one inch pieces, skin the sausages and add both to the onion mixture. Have the raw shrimp carefully washed and shelled, and add with the tomatoes to the mixture. Let simmer for half an hour in a covered pot, then add the mashed garlic, stock, finely chopped red pepper, parsley, thyme, raw rice and salt. Cook for about thirty minutes or just until the rice is done. Add the oysters and cook two minutes longer. Serve as a one-dish meal. Delicious!

Rice Muffins

Two and one-fourth cups flour, three-fourths cup hot, cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar, one cup milk, one egg, two tablespoons shortening, one-half teaspoon salt.

Int a bowl blend the shortening, sugar and egg. Sift together the salt, baking powder and flour. Sift the flour into the shortening mixture, alternately with the milk. Fold in the rice. Bake in well greased muffin pans in a moderate oven of 375 degrees F. Cold rice may be used in this recipe with success.

French Pancakes

Two cups flour, one egg, one cup milk, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, strawberry jam, thick cream.

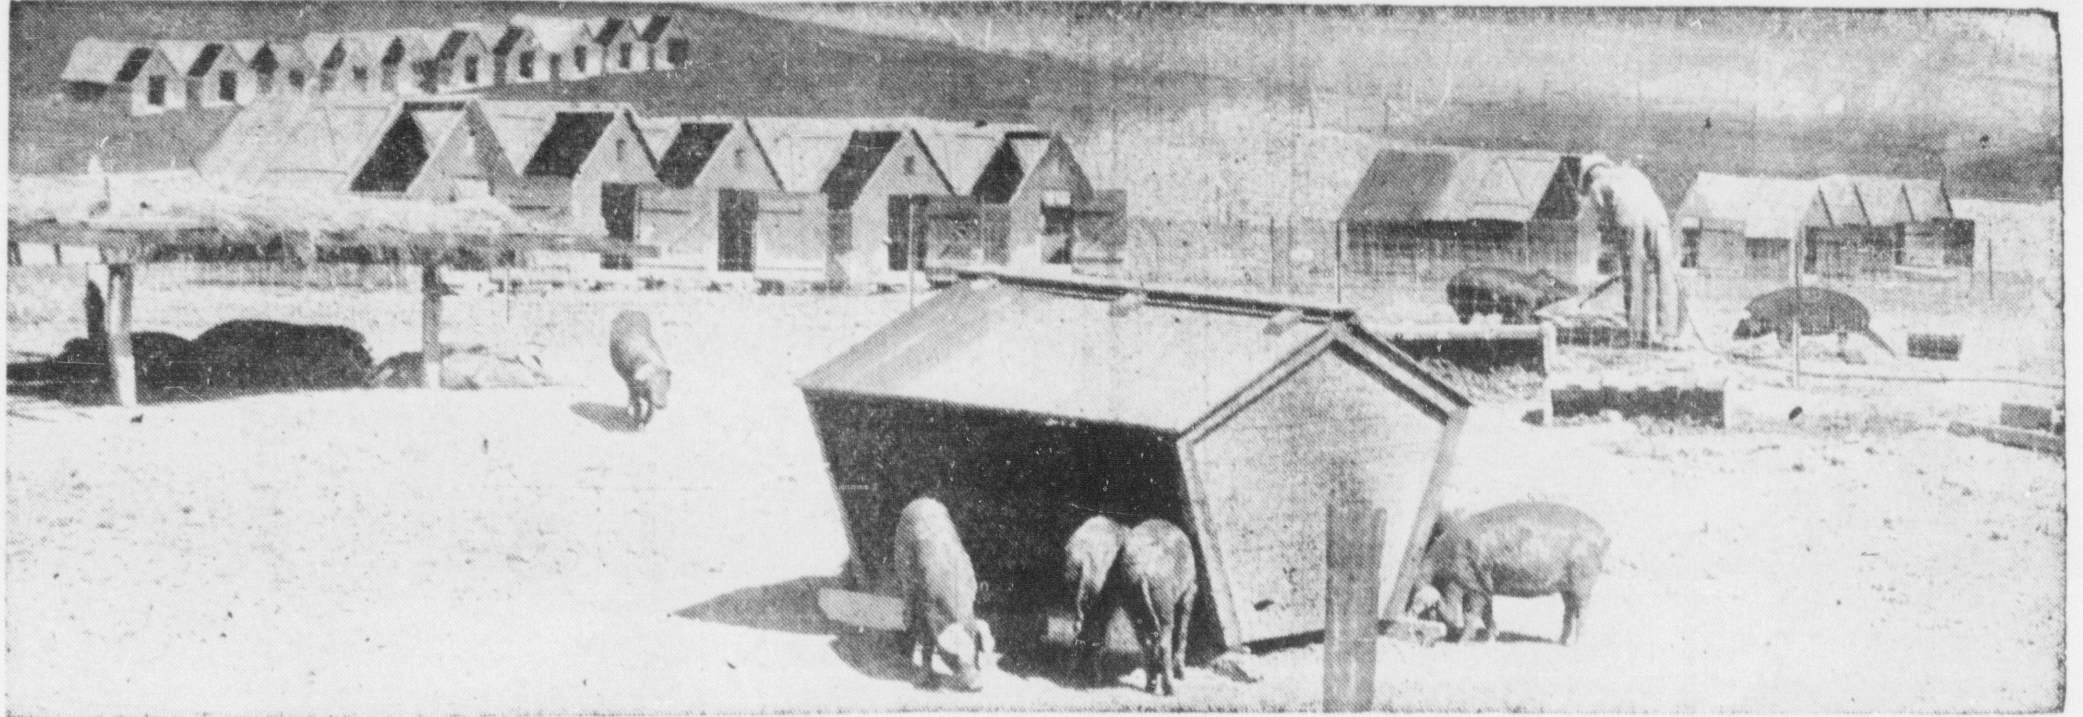

Mix the flour, salt, nutmeg, and milk with egg together until perfectly blended. Add additional milk to make a very thin batter. The batter when poured into the pan should be so thin that it just forms a coating over the pan. Place a small lump of fat in a small frying pan, one pancake only is to be cooked at a time. When hot, pour in the batter, brown on one side, turn and brown on the other. As each pancake is baked, place on a hot platter, spread with strawberry jam and roll up like a jelly roll. Repeat until all batter has been used. Serve with a small bowl of thick cream. The cream is poured over the pancakes at the table.

NEW DEAL ENEMIES OF LITTLE PIGS NOW SPEND TAXES ON THEM

Homestead, Pa., New Deal Swine Project, Shows Right About Face, Entering Competition With Pennsylvania Farmers.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 1—Ghosts of thousands—of little pigs, ruthlessly slaughtered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration probably haunt the model swine project being conducted in the Westmoreland Homesteads, Mt. Pleasant Township, a short distance from here.

The piglets being pampered by New Deal swineherds were not born in time to fall victims to this frenzied massacre. They are safe and sequestered, living in modern bungalows, with acres of excellent rooting ground and living a life of leisure and grandeur under the personal supervision of Rex Tugwell, professor of pork extraordinary. These pampered pigs are given expert attention in order that they may develop into loyal resettlement hogs.

This scientific production of pork began this year, not many weeks after the U. S. Supreme Court put an end to the destruction of pigs. Forty-five Duroc-Jersey brood sows and two stallion boars were purchased for the 25 acre pig tract. Now there are more than 250 denizens of the bungalows and their adjoining sanitary wallows.

Aristocratic sows who are "blessed" sleep on clean hay in a one-room bungalow, the roof of which opens to admit sun when needed and to permit the New Deal attendants to wait on them. The babies romp and doze on a sunny veranda, returning at intervals for nourishment.

When the government quit reducing the pork supply and started to increase it the experts found some excellent co-operators in the way of sows. To wit, one tall, rangy mother, which in two "blessed events" produced 39 little shoats. Nineteen and twenty to a litter is considered pretty good production even under the ideal conditions of a Tugwell piggery.

The resettlement farmers here, operating co-operatively on untaxed land and living in untaxed houses, may be competing with private producers on three fronts soon: Dairy products, eggs and poultry and pork. A number of scientific henneries are scattered over the site and the dairy is one of the exhibits at the community fair.

But judging by the zeal with which the imported sows are doing their part, ham and bacon and kindred edibles will be the big source of income for the resettlers.

School Teacher Hurt In Crash of Car and Truck

After receiving treatment at the office of Dr. Frank Lehman, Miss Pennypacker was discharged. She suffered from bruises and slight cuts. The sedan, operated by the school teacher, was considerably damaged. The windshield was broken completely out and the steering wheel was twisted and snapped in three places.

The truck, driven by Elmer Potent, 718 Olden avenue, Trenton, was not damaged. The driver said that he was coming from Trenton with a load of fuel for an Edgely concern and missed the road over the high bridge as he came west on Bristol Pike. He then proceeded to back his truck to the road and just as he was in front of the bakery on Bristol Pike, owned by A. Swain, the crash occurred.

Patrolman H. E. Hand, South Langhorne barracks, investigated the accident.

POMPOON NOW THE FAVORITE IN FUTURITY

By Lou Bindman

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—(INS)—The stage is being set and the principals made ready for the richest two-year-old race in the world—the Belmont Futurity, which will be decided at Long Island's Belmont Park on October 3rd.

Not all of the best two-year-old performers will do battle in this lavish number, since some of the stars which shone throughout the summer campaign have not been nominated. But for all that, the race is expected to pack considerable dynamite which may even net the winter favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby honors. Certain to go postward, the favorite is J. H. Leuchheim's youngster, Pompoon, which has rolled up an imposing record this year, having been defeated only once. On that occasion he carried the unusual weight for a juvenile of 130 pounds and finished second to No. Sir. The effort came after a layoff of two months and was highly commendable, particularly since most horses generally fail to fall into best stride in their first time at bat after such an absence.

Pompoon is a solid looking colt by Pompey out of Onagah and before he had done much running stamped himself as a thoroughbred of considerable class. In his latest appearance at the Aqueduct track, Pompoon carried off the Junior Champion Stakes, scoring by a length over John Hay Whitney's Flying Scot. So heavily backed was the Leuchheim colorbearer that he opened at 1 to 3 in the oral betting and closed at 2 to 7 with no place or show quotations on him. He carried top weight of 119 pounds and turned the six and a half furlongs in 1:18 1-5—four-fifths of a second below the track record which was established by the three-year-old King Saxon in 1934.

Because of his triumph in the Junior Champion Stakes, Pompoon will pick up a penalty of five pounds in the Futurity, hoisting his impost to 127 pounds, but his position as favorite seems nevertheless secure, particularly in view of the absence of Maeneve Farm's brilliant colt, Maedic, Pompoon's chief rival for 1935 juvenile honors. Maedic, which performed modestly during last winter's campaign but improved rapidly to annex several stake numbers in succession, crowned by the rich Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga Springs, is not eligible for the Futurity and will have to stand by while Pompoon puts in his bid for supremacy.

Last year's Futurity was won by Marshall Field's Tintagel, earning a prize of $66,450. The richest Futurity was in 1929 when Whitehouse beat High Jack and Gallant Fox to earn $105,730.

MICHIGAN EXPECTS TO HAVE A BIG YEAR

By Raymond Wilcoxe
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 1—(INS)—The University of Michigan, kicked around on the gridiron for the past two seasons, confidentially expects to again take its place among the leaders this year.

Two seasons ago the Wolverines hit an all-time low when they won only one game. The following year they began to climb the long come-back trail, managing to break even on their eight-game schedule, and defeating such teams as Columbia and Pennsylvania.

This year, Coach Harry Kipke is more optimistic than he has been since Michigan's Big Ten championship days.

Fifty-five aspirants turned out in answer to Coach Kipke's first call for football practice and he expresses himself as much pleased with their appearance. The players were big, rangy, active and fast, much the best material Michigan has had for the past few years.

After looking them over Kipke said: "We're going to be better, lots better, than last season. We've got a better bunch. They're faster and they've got a different mental attitude. We'll have more speed in the backfield and the line."

In addition to promising new talent, Kipke also has on hand most of the members of last season's team, including Matt Pantanelli, veteran end and captain, and Chris Everhardus, a running back and one of the outstanding players last season.

Kipke is expected to stress speed, the team's chief shortcoming last year. All through the Winter Track Coach Charley Hoyt drilled them and the men are now showing the effects of his coaching.

Michigan this season is up against a

SELKIRK CROSSES PLATE FOR FIRST RUN ON HIS OWN HOMER

Forty-eight thousand wildly cheering fans stood up as George Selkirk, Yankee right fielder, stepped to the plate in the third inning of the first World Series game between the Yanks and Giants at the Polo Grounds, in New York, and laced out the first home-run of the game for first score. Red Ruffing, Yank pitcher, and a batboy are shown waiting to greet Selkirk who is crossing the plate.

difficult schedule, with such teams as Michigan State, Columbia, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, and Ohio State due to give it stiff competition. Following is the Wolverine schedule:

October 3, Michigan State, Ann Arbor; October 10, Indiana, Ann Arbor; October 17, Minnesota, Minneapolis; October 24, Columbia, Ann Arbor; October 31, Illinois, Ann Arbor; November 7, Penn. Philadelphia; November 14, Northwestern, Ann Arbor; November 21, Ohio State, Columbus.

Making Curtains at Home

If there is time, many housekeepers prefer to make their own curtains. However, many stores have departments that furnish this service. They will also hang the curtains when they are completed. When purchasing material, it is wise to allow for shrinkage, so measure generously with a yard stick or metal ruler. A double hem at both the top and bottom will make curtains hang better and give the necessary material needed in case of shrinkage. If the windows are full size, the curtains should hang to one-fourth of an inch of the sill or to the apron which is the wood molding beneath the window. If the window is small, size may be added by hanging the glass, or thin curtain to within an inch of the floor.

There is an economy in having curtains of the same material throughout the downstairs floor. Then when the curtains in the front become worn, they may be placed in the back part of the house. Extra curtains of the same material are also a convenience in that the room may be freshened and never left bare while the laundering is being done.

Draperies

When purchasing overcurtains, be careful not to get ones that are fuzzy, but instead select materials that will blend with the room and be pleasing to look at for a long time. The newer materials and the most popular erty or unemployment. It is a frightful injustice to the unfortunate people who may be lulled into inaction by its lurid fictions.

* * *

Still worse, the New Deal program is so destructive of the nation's assets that it EXTENDS THE PROSPECT OF EVENTUAL INSECURITY to millions of citizens who would normally expect to provide their own security.

Governor Landon knows the best security any man can have is achieved in gainful employment in an industry or profession capable of paying for his services on a scale that will provide for his present and future needs.

He knows that any Government program seeking to assure the comforts of the insecure THROUGH RECKLESS EXPLOITATION OF THE SECURE is an instrument of disaster.

That is the essence of the New Deal's misadventure in the field of security legislation.

And that is what Mr. Landon is determined to avoid in his program for REAL AND PERMANENT SECURITY.

* * *

Governor Landon is not willing "to promise the moon" to the aged, the infirm and the insecure in bartering for their votes.

"I promise only what I know can be performed," is his honest pledge.

America has ample resources of heart and of purse to redeem that kind of a pledge, and the American people instinctively recognize in Alfred M. Landon a leader WITH THE COURAGE AND INTEGRITY TO LIVE UP TO IT.

THE DAY OF BATTLE DAWNS

(From Newtown Enterprise)

Upon a hundred thousand hills our signal fires flame,
Our trumpets sound, our bugles call, our rolling drums proclaim—
America is on the march to end its time of shame!

The patient people rise in wrath, the silent people speak,
The thunder of their anger rolls from sea to mountain peak,
And from the sky white serpents dart: woe to the man they seek!

For he has sinned against the light, the fire our fathers bore,
Within their hearts when first they built its temple on this shore,
Who dims the flame of liberty shall serve its shrine no more!

O man of broken promises, O waster of our wealth,
O striver for the covert end by cunning and by stealth,
Betrayed the hopes of youth, deceiver of the old,
Who would the people's master be through bribes of bread and gold,
Not all your conscript army paid by the worker's toil,
Not all your hireling henchmen who make the poor their spoil,
Not all your men who hate our law and serve a foreign creed,
Shall win against a people who do not fight for greed,
Who do not fight for place and power but for the common good,
For equal right and freedom and human brotherhood.

Americans, the day of battle dawns. March on to victory!

ones are glazed chintz and damasks. All overhangings should be lined to give them body, also to protect the finer material from sunshine and wear. Draperies are usually floor length and should never be cut off at the baseboard. Some rooms may call for a different treatment but the floor length is usually the best form.

end of the county where the storm was of less intensity. He also pointed out that the storm, of gale-like proportions, also did considerable damage in the lower end where fields of corn and other vegetation was flattened by the wind.

Weather conditions in general during the past season have not seriously reduced yields, although some areas report a greater acreage than last year for the same production. The second crop of clover and the third cutting of alfalfa, according to the county agent, have been very good, this being in part the results of the recent rains. Soy beans have suffered little, and the excellent yields of these three crops has eliminated the possibility of a hay shortage this season.

Orchards' crops have not been up to pay this year, although certain varieties of apples are expected to produce big yields. Peaches enjoyed a very poor season in Bucks county.

The late rains also aided the estimated 3000 acres of tomatoes grown in the county this year.

INFLUENCING POINTS IN CREAM-WHIPPING GIVEN HOUSE-WIVES

By Rhandena A. Armstrong (Home Economics Representative)

Whipped cream is not only a valuable food but adds zest to desserts when used as a garnish. Use of this product moves the daily milk consumption nearer the point scientists recommend for nutritional needs.

Several points are important when buying cream. They are the age, percentage of butterfat, and the temperature at which the cream was stored prior to whipping.

With higher butterfat content, the cream requires less time to whip and a better product is the result. For whipping purposes cream containing not less than 22 per cent butterfat is recommended.

Usually an unaged cream takes longer to whip than an aged cream. Aging for 48 hours or more gives the best results. During aging the temperature of the cream should be below 45 degrees Fahrenheit.

Temperature plays an important part in whipping cream. Generally, to insure good results, low butterfat content creams should be whipped at a temperature not greater than 45 degrees, and high butterfat content creams should be whipped at not more than 50 degrees. This means that care will have to be exercised by the person who is to whip the cream. For best results, after the cream has been delivered it should be thoroughly chilled before whipping. That may be accomplished by keeping the cream in an ice water bath for several hours, or by storing in a good, cold refrigerator immediately on receipt of delivery. The jar in which the cream is to be whipped and the beater should be cold. They may be placed in the refrigerator or thoroughly chilled by ice water immediately before using.

Flavoring extracts added to cream that is to be whipped do not affect the stiffness of the whip nor the whipping quality, but, sugar, whether added before or after whipping, affects the whip, quality of the whip, and the time consumed to whip.

The "standing up" quality of whipped cream or the ability of the cream to retain its stiffness needs consideration. When cream is used as a garnish it should retain its shape and firmness.

All of the points mentioned are interdependent. In buying a cream for whipping, consider the kind of cream, age, percentage of butterfat, and temperature to insure best results.

FASHION PARADE

By ORRY-KELLY

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—(INS)—Sport clothes may step into the drawing room, the swanky dining places and the ballroom with never a quiver of embarrassment. It's because the outfit you play tennis or weed the garden in is being copied in silver mesh, in gold sequins and beaded crepe.

Milo Anderson has designed a dress for Jean Muir to wear in "Once a Doctor," which was copied from the overalls she wears to potter about the garden. The long, blue flat crepe skirt is made with matching suspenders. The hemline touches the floor in back and is only slightly shorter in front. The blouse is the fascinating part . . . of white georgette, it has a white-headed design worked in it which stimulates the design in a man's white madras shirt. It has a mannish collar and low V-neck with short sleeves that are worn rolled up like a man's sport shirt.

The sweat shirt, too, has its lining in another dress of Anderson inspiration. Also worn by Jean Muir in the same picture, this dress is rust-colored crepe with a gold-sequin top. The neckline here has a typical sweat-shirt treatment and plain brief sleeves—all of scintillating sequins. The dress also features the popular floor-length scarf which goes through the collar in front and out the back.

In "Stolen Holiday," starring Kay Francis, one of the mannequins wears a silver mesh turtle-neck sweater with long sleeves over a floor-length skirt of the same material.

Those little Gypsy scarfs that girls wore around their heads on the tennis courts and down at the beaches are getting a novel treatment in "Melody for Two," as introduced by Patricia Ellis.

Pat sings a "Mammy" song in the picture, so nothing could be more appropriate than the bandanna motif. Around her head she wears a wisp of a bandanna with bow atop her head. But no ordinary bandanna for this occasion . . . It is red flat crepe worked with red, white and black beads in the design usually found printed on the common red hanky. The gown itself is black satin, floor length, with suspender straps. But used in lieu of a blouse is more of this head-embroidered red crepe which is slipped through the suspenders to join in front in a flat "Mammy" bow, leaving a deep decollete in front and in back.

SENSATIONAL BOUTS STAGED BY AMATEURS

CROYDON, Oct. 1.—Despite the rain storm, the Arena, packed to its doors by loudly cheering fight fans, staged about the most sensational set of amateur boxing bouts seen here since the simon pure lads started to swing leather at each other in the Daggert Club's weekly contests.

Each of the nine bouts was a wow with the biggest thrill served to the fans in the star bout which brought together two of the smartest little fighters in the metropolitan district, Johnny Litto, former 118-pound champion, and Billy Crawford, Daggert ace. These two lads, with little to choose between them, staged the fastest kind of action for three rounds with Litto getting the judges' verdict. Right from the opening bell Crawford, who is a great favorite with the fans, splashed rights and lefts into Litto's body and head with the South Philadelphia retaliating with a heavy right cross to Crawford's face and an upper-cut that sent Crawford back on his heels several times. The first round ended with honors even.

The second third rounds were so packed with fast punching and clever boxing that the judges had great difficulty in selecting the winner. Litto, who was the big bad wolf to the crowd, got the razz when awarded the victory. This would be a whale of a return bout.

Johnny Ferrara, a 112-pound former Middle Atlantic States champion, lost on a foul to Leo Neary, of Kensington, in the first round of the semi-windup. Ferrara had Neary out on the floor with what appeared to be a right to the stomach but what Neary claimed was a low blow. After an examination by the doctor, Neary was awarded the fight.

Albert Puccelli, of the Neighborhood Club, surprised the crowd by the way he battled Bob Hinchcliffe, of the Kensington Club. Only the experience of Hinchcliffe enabled him to withstand the heavy body punches of Puccelli, who took everything Hinchcliffe had and came back for more. He made a great hit with the crowd. Hinchcliffe got the decision in three rounds.

Bennie Belinski, 147-pound Daggert Club youngster, knocked out Charles "Doc" Lang, of Holland A. C., in the first round with a right to the button. Belinski, who has all the ear-marks of a future star, stung Lang with heavy blows to the body before landing the finisher.

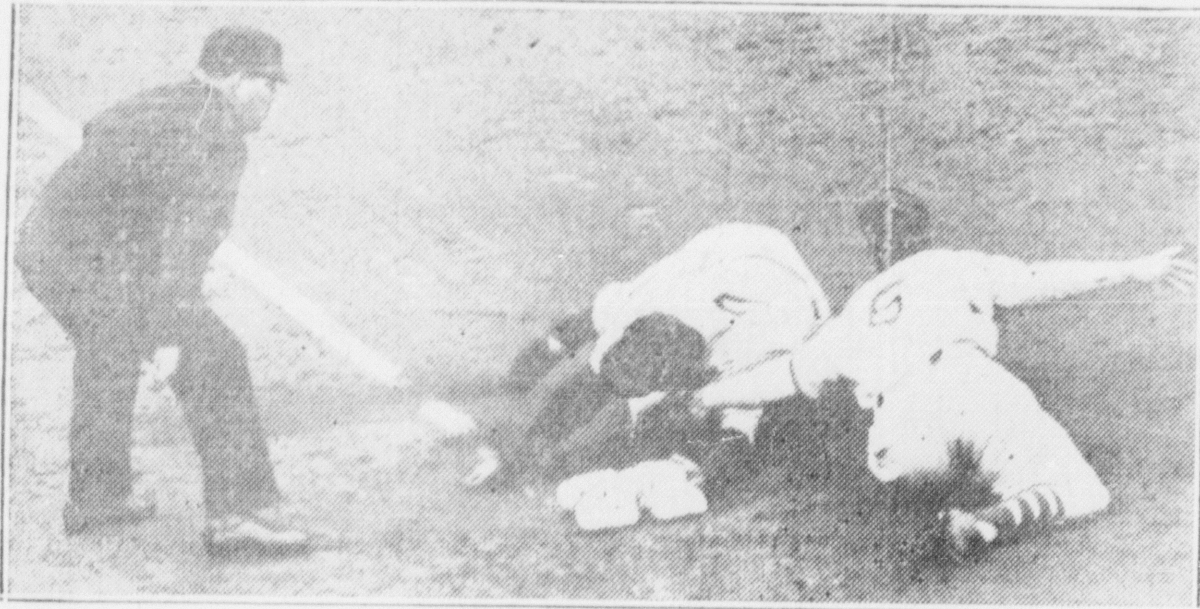

Walter Rhoades, of Kensington, went out in the second round from a left hook to the tummy from Carmen Villio, of the Semour Club.

Mickey Winters, of the East Side Club, and Angelo Ambrosano, untagged, gave a fast and clever celebration of boxing in the fourth bout of the evening, stepping through the three rounds at a rapid pace. Ambrosano, who carried the heavier punch, was awarded the judges' decision.

Joe Callahan, another Kensington product, defeated Joseph Perrone, of Daggert, in three rounds.

In an old-fashioned rock-'em-and-sock-'em brawl that had the crowd up on their feet throughout the three rounds, saw Billy Blade defeat William Boudah, of the Holland A. C. These two boys, with no science whatever, smashed one another all over the ring in what appeared to be a grudge fight. Boudah, who had the better of the early rounds by virtue of two knockdowns over Blade, was practically out on his feet at the final bell, with Blade getting the verdict for his constant boring in.

Edward Clayton, Holland A. C., knocked out Marshall Burdan, a colored lad from the East Side Club, with a left to the tummy in the second round.

Officials for the evening were: Referee, Edward McGinn; Judges, Nathan Lipshultz and James McGinnley.

Announcer Mickey Giordano announced that a return bout had been arranged between Billy Blade and William Boudah for next week's show.

HUBBELL DEFEATS YANKEES IN OPENER

How They Stand	Won	Lost	Pct.
Giants	1	0	1.000
Yankees	0	1	.000

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Under circumstances and playing conditions yesterday that made their immediate prospects look as completely soggy as the rain-drenched diamond, the Yankees dropped the first decision to the mud-running Giants and their screwball ace, Carl Owen Hubbell, in the opening game of the New York's baseball civil war for the world championship.

The final score was 6 to 1 and the superiority of the National League champions so convincing, at the finish of a game that was accompanied by steady rain through the last seven innings, that a strong swing to Bill Terry's club was under way.

After seven hard-fought innings in the rain and mud, with Hubbell shading big Charley (Red) Ruting only by a 2 to 1 margin, in a brilliant pitching duel, the Yankee infield went to pieces.

The combination of some wild and woolly tossing of the slippery ball, Ruting's own lack of control and three base hits produced four runs for the National League champions in the eighth inning.

From the Yankee standpoint it was a dismal climax to an otherwise well-played game, despite the worst conditions marking any World Series match since the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Washington Senators in the championship despite the earliness of the season.

This game as usual has stirred up much interest and a hard fought battle is anticipated. The defeat of the Yankees, as they call themselves, by Bristol last year, finds Doylestown anxious to rebound. Coach Bill Wolfe finds his proteges well armed with a strong group of Freshmen and Sophomores from last year's squad. He also has six letter winners in the line-up.

Bristol, on the other hand, will be seeking a "Double Eagle." Writhing under last week's defeat from a heavier team, the Bunnies are pepped up and anxious to go. Coach Bill Dougherty has been ironing out minor faults in his club during practice and in scrimmage with Bensalem and is ready for the opening whistle. However, he will miss the services of Carmen Guillato, stellar tackle, due to an injury, but feels confident if he can keep the remainder of the squad unimpaired.

TWO MORE PLAYERS ADDED TO TORNADOES

Two more professional football players, well-known in this vicinity, have been signed by Manager Joe Myers, of the Bristol Tornadoes. The players are "Vic" Christy and George Sheppard. They will most likely see action against the Trenton-Roebling Blue Centers this Sunday on Landreth's field.

Christy played with Holmesburg last season and in the game against the Tornadoes last Sunday he entered the fray in the last quarter and got off a sixty yard punt to boot his team out of danger. Sheppard is a graduate of St. Joseph's College and played with the Tacony Aces. He is a nephew of Willis Sheppard, who refereed sports here.

The addition of Christy and Sheppard makes the third player signed by Manager Myers this week. "Dolly" Katz was added to the roster Tuesday night. Whether Bill Ripple will play with the locals is still a puzzle which may be solved later in the week.

The Trenton-Roebling Blue Center will come here well fortified and many are predicting that the resident eleven will taste its first defeat of the season.

BRISTOL HIGH ELEVEN TO PLAY AT DOYLESTOWN

By Louis Tomlinson
Tomorrow afternoon at Doylestown on their field, Bristol will clash with one of her keenest rivals for what probably will determine the county was made as to whether the majority was for acquittal or conviction.

"It is too bad you could not have reached a verdict in this case; it was not a difficult one to decide," the Court remarked. "However, you say that you cannot agree and there is no use of your remaining out any longer."

Judge Keller thanked the members of the jury for their service and discharged all of them except a few who had been called to serve on a civil case today.

In the trial of the case, Ebener was represented by Thomas Ross, of Doylestown, while the Commonwealth was represented by Assistant District Attorney Edward G. Blester.

George Bennett, 26, of Willow Grove, and Joseph Moore, 30, of Neshaminy, who were convicted of an assault and battery charge by a jury on Tuesday afternoon, were given a suspended sentence by Judge Boyer, but directed to pay the sum of $25 in lieu of a fine and costs of prosecution. The defendants facing their first conviction, were placed on probation for a year with Sheriff Horace E. Gwinner in charge.

Speaking to Bennett, who formerly operated a taproom at Neshaminy, Judge Boyer said: "You, as a keeper of a taproom, should have known how disagreeable it is to start a brawl in a taproom, a public business place. The purpose of placing you on probation is to give assurance that you will remain sober for one year. If you become intoxicated you will be violating your probation."

The defendants, who were convicted of beating up an older man, Joseph Kosak, in a Neshaminy taproom August 17, following a request of $1.50 on the part of Bennett to whom the foreigner owed the money.

"The Court agrees with the view of the jury. We are satisfied the cause of the whole disturbance was your condition. If you hadn't been drinking, you two young men wouldn't have started a fight in a public place.

"The objectionable feature of this whole case is that a fight was started in a public place. Why you should have been in a taproom when you had one of your own, the Court cannot understand."

Because it was the first offense for both defendants, the Court did not impose a prison sentence, taking into consideration that Bennett has just gotten a job and Moore is the support of a wife and three small children.

In their testimony, Bennett and Moore both denied they started the brawl over the money, but that they struck Kosak in self defense.

They also denied they were drunk but that they had a few beers.

Witnesses for the defendants included Ida May Grabber, David D. Grabber, Walter Sykes, Justice of the Peace of Edison, Raymond Worthington, Neshaminy merchant and constable, and William Simmons.

World Day for Animals To Be Observed Oct. 4

World Day for Animals will be observed October 4th. For several years this day has been celebrated in various countries, its purpose being to call attention to the needs of the animals, and to educate the public to "Think-

Speak-Act" for suffering animals. The blue forget-me-not was selected as the animal's international emblem.

On Saturday at 11.30 a. m., Miss B. Kind, who talks on Humane Education in Philadelphia schools, will give a radio talk to girls and boys over station WIP. Other broadcasts will be made including one Saturday evening at nine, telling of cruelties inflicted on animals in the name of science, this being over the same station.

Regular use of the Courier Classified column is economical and profitable.
